Ah, just learning to be a kid again!

6

You're never really too old to fit into kids' stuff. Five RF students traveled to Merrillville to be a kid again. First they visited the Discovery Zone to play on the slides, jungle gyms and giant piano.

Celebration Station was the group's next stop. Pizza, pop and the game rooms helped the Ingots to recapture childhood memories.

When it comes to having fun, RF students know that One Size Fits All.

World events take place

One Size Fit All at school, but RF students were also part of a larger world community.

The desire for world peace was a major theme during the year. Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat made history and signed a peace agreement. Violence, however, erupted daily in Somalia and Bosnia.

Disasters were plentiful during the year. A major flood hit the Midwest and devastating fires occurred in California.

In sports the Chicago Bulls made history by capturing a third NBA championship. During the off season, Michael Jordan, Bull's guard, stunned the world by announcing his retirement.

1: After signing a peace treaty, Yitzhak Rabin and Yasser Arafat shake hands. President Bill Clinton congratulates them.
2: First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton speaks about national health care.
3: Pope John Paul visits the U. S.
4: RF's band stars in the movie, "The Fugitive."
5: Midwesterners cope with floods.

Lewis clinches MVP

The 1993-94 varsity football team had a record of 1-8. "We had a lot of underclassmen playing big roles on the team. Losing a lot of seniors this year, we didn't have the experience we needed," said Jake Lewis.

Jake received the title of Most Valuable Player. Senior Jason Puckett was named Most Improved.

Winter dance attracts 82 RF couples

RF's 1994 Turnabout dance had an exceptional turnout. The Junior Class chose the theme Always and Forever. Teal green and black balloons accented the gymnasium. Junior Alex Mosqueda and senior Ricky Mosqueda were disc jockeys for the night.

The dance took place in the elementary gymnasium on Saturday, January 29. Tickets were $20 per couple. According to sponsors Mrs. Pat McNabb and Ms. Terry Watkins, 82 couples attended. This number was much greater than in the past.

JV basketball squad posts winning season

RFJH's seventh grade girls basketball team ended with a 3-9 record. The team had a good start, but Coach Keith Hyden indicated that the squad lacked the determination to be successful.

As for the eighth grade squad, they ended with a 4-6 record. Although their statistics did not show a winning season, Coach Paul Volk was proud of their efforts.

The JV, lead by Coach Dan Lewis, ended with a season record of 9-5.

Humanities supports cultural awareness

3

Classes in the humanities and fine arts areas contain activities and projects that provide a variety for students.

Foreign language classes received new teachers during the year. Mrs. Irma Cuevas, Spanish teacher, and Miss Emily Smith, French teacher, were added to the faculty.

Normally, one might get into trouble for writing on the walls, but art students were rewarded for doing so. Mrs. Gloria Komosa's students worked together to decorate the Senior Hall.

This year's English department also added another faculty member. Miss Francie Blaney taught freshman English students and became the adviser of the Ingot yearbook.

Science, math provide spice

If you liked Frankenstein or Einstein, you probably loved the disciplines of science and mathematics this year. These two courses of study did provide hands-on experience and a little spice in the curriculum. Students especially looked forward to lab classes during the day to change their class routines.

According to Mrs. Kathy Hooks and Mr. Jim Wells, instructors, the Science Department was able to offer a wider variety of animals for dissection. Specimens used included squid, fish, starfish, and pigs. Blood typing was also a project offered to Biology students.

This year, Advanced Placement Calculus was offered to RF students.

Academic areas stress gaining life skills

4

Gaining practical skills and emphasizing hands-on production, business and practical arts courses offered students an opportunity to get away from general textbook courses.

The woods, metals and drafting classes participated in the Southlake Technology Project Fair at Southlake Mall in May. The students displayed their projects completed during the year. RF students were awarded 100 first, second and third place ribbons.

The foods classes participated in the Multicultural Fair. The students prepared samples of foods for the student body to taste during the lunch hours.

The Business Department ordered new networked computers. The new equipment is expected by next fall.

5: Mr. Paul Murray gives individual instruction to eighth grader Brian Ray.
4: Eighth grade industrial arts students work with a radial arm saw in first hour.

Applying what you've learned

During the year, students were involved in activities related to school environment.

Intramural basketball provided an opportunity for students to put their physical education skills into practice.

In the spring, students had a chance to participate in the principles gained in civics and government. Some RF students campaigned and worked at the election polls.

Service organizations raise money

High school and junior high service organizations were active during the year. The groups participated in Cultural Week and raised funds for needy groups.

RF's National Honor Society made donations to the school library and Dollars for Scholars. In the spring the group inducted 14 new members. The society also sold Indian beads at the Cultural Fair.

The Student Council donated money to needy children at Christmas time. They also raised money during class competition for Riley's Children's Hospital. Besides donating money, they held many dances for the students.

The junior high Student Council sponsored dances during the year.

RF academic teams pursue perfection

When is a "know it all" tolerable? Well, you would probably want someone who had all the answers if you were in a fierce academic competition.

RF's Spell Bowl, Decathlon and Super Bowl teams represented the school at competitions throughout the year. The Decathlon team competed at conference and area at Kankakee Valley. The Super Bowl team met conference teams at Lake Station, and area was held at Wheeler.

Mrs. Kathy Hooks and Mr. Robert Grenert served as coaches for the teams. Assistant coaches were Miss Roberta Connelly and Miss Francie Blaney.

Staffers generate increase in '94 sales

Yearbook members doubled their book sales during the school year. The staff sold 228 copies of the 1994 Ingot yearbook.

Staffers selected the theme, One Size Fits All, early in the year.

Senior Jamie Howard served as the publication's editor. The senior attended an editor's workshop in the fall. Senior Charles Shinkle was the book's business manager.

Staff members joined with the newspaper staff for the first annual Publications Banquet in May at the Paragon Restaurant.

Staff uses technology

Newspaper staffers learned many new technologies during the year. The group continued to learn new computers and programs.

Senior Kristen Kolesiak, editor of the Ingot Informer, received the Hammond Times award at Senior Honor Day.

Newspaper staffers joined with the yearbook for a publications banquet in May at Paragon Restaurant. At the dinner, staffers received staff pins.

FHA, JA provide fun, excitement

Future Homemakers of America (FHA) and Junior Achievement (JA) provided project fun for their members during the year.

JA worked as a group to produce mini companies. Students learned the fundamentals of running a business, including selling stock. Advertising and marketing were skills students used to sell RF sweatshirts and hats during the first semester. The group sold an estimated 35 sweatshirts and 20 hats. Investors earned 12 1/2 percent as a dividend.

FHA provided lunch time ice cream sale during the final days of school.

Staff gains honors for contributions

During the spring, Mr. J. Ronald Hughes was honored with the Inland Steel Teacher of the Year award by his fellow staff members. Mr. Hughes is an active thirty year member of the River Forest Community School Corporation. Mr. Hughes has served as a Student Council sponsor, Chairman of the Social Studies and Foreign Language Department, President for Outcome-Based Education, Coordinator for the American Legion "Americanism Test," and was the school district representative on the State School Restructuring Task Force. Mr. Hughes was also one of the coordinators for the First Annual Multicultural Fair held in April.

Mr. Donald Tippett, who retired in July, was honored at the May 17 meeting of the school board. Dr. Robert Wright, high school guidance counselor, presented Mr. Tippett with a plaque commemorating his years of service to the school system. When asked if he had any advice for fellow Ingots about their future, he responded, "Be true to yourselves, Ingots."

Mr. Harry Leonard, 1927-1993, was also honored this year. Mr. Leonard was a member of the River Forest School Corporation School Board since 1990. He was active in Hobart Township Dollars for Scholars. He was interested in River Forest sports and also involved in the Booster Club.

Cultures stress that One Size Fits All

A kaleidoscope of colors swirling as dancers twirl across a stage ... The laughter of children as they smash a candy-filled pinata ... The aroma of foods from a variety of lands intermingling at a food fair ... Melodic voices singing selections from other countries ... Brightly colored flags strung across a gymnasium ... Multicultural Week provided an opportunity to appreciate cultural variety and to recognize that One Size Fits All in the school, community and the U.S.

1: Senior foreign exchange student Kazumi Komatsu receives gifts from Dr. Robert Wright, guidance counselor.
2: Three dancers in traditional costume entertain students and guests during an evening performance.
3: Mrs. Irma Cuevas's Spanish classes perform the play, "Sleeping Beauty."
4: Mrs. Gayle Robertson, secretary, puts in her share of help during the Multicultural Fair.
5: Sophomore Hector Vasquez receives grand prize for the high school during Multicultural Week.
6: The Ballet Folklorico displays authentic Mexican costumes while they dance during a performance in the round.

One size fits all™

Rummaging through mountains of paper and memorabilia on locker clean out day ... Sweat, determination, and cramming for final exams ... Tearful seniors and underclassmen sharing hugs at graduation ... Because of all the effort from students, faculty and staff, RF demonstrated to everyone that in 1994 One Size Fits All.

As editor of the 1994 Ingot yearbook, I would like to thank each member of my staff and our adviser, Miss Francie Blaney. I also would like to thank Barry's Photography and Mrs. Valerie Tanke, Walsworth Publishing.
